Cautions

- For dark colors, please note that color fading and color migration may occur due to friction when wet.
- Please avoid direct sunlight or heat.
- If the seat gets dirty, washing with water will cause shrinkage, color fading, and peeling of the adhesive. To remove stains, please dry clean.

A tool for good living that will always be loved

In 1970, Japanese designer Takeshi Nii (1920-2007) created the NyChair X, which celebrated its 50th anniversary in 2020. The chair's simple, beautiful, and functional design, which is based on the Japanese living environment, offers a comfortable seating experience and portability. NyChair X has received the Good Design and Long-Life Design Awards and has been highly acclaimed both in Japan and around the world.

We will continue to deliver Japanese quality and relaxation to the world as "a tool for good living that will always be loved."

1986 Received the Good Design Award

1997 Received the Long Life Design Award

Supporting and enveloping the body even in a small space

Seat comfort that considers ergonomics and living environments

The calculated height of the seat and armrests, the angle of the backrest, and the characteristics of the fabric all combine to create a comfortable seating experience that envelops the body. A relaxing space can be created in a space of 1.6 m<sup>2</sup>. The shape of the legs is also designed to prevent damage to floors.

Lightweight, foldable, with removable seat

Easily foldable and freestanding, the chair can be stored in small spaces. It is lightweight and can be compactly folded. The raised seat fabric, which has a pleasant texture and feel, can be removed, and replaced when damaged.

NyChair X™ Shikiri

From Inside to Outside, from Outside to Inside

In Japan, since ancient times, traditional architecture have had diverse types of partitions – "shikiri" in Japanese – such as folding screens, sliding doors, and reed blinds. These partitions can block dazzling sunlight or the view from the outside but at the same time allow people inside to be aware of light, wind, or sound from outside the partition. They are indispensable items in Japanese houses, where people highly value the changes in the natural world outside. NyChair X Shikiri is inspired by the concept of a shikiri partition and suggests a lifestyle with a closer connection to nature.

Thoughtfully designed seat height and armrests

Compared to the Nychair X, the X80 has a higher seat height and a raised back, making it easier to stand up. The height of the seat and the angle of the armrests allow the user to sit in a natural and relaxed position. The specially sewn thick, stretchable cotton fabric molds to your body and provides a comfortable, enveloping experience.

Utility and comfort at the forefront

We developed a method of folding the back by alternately turning the left and right frames of the back inwards. This way, the product when folded stands on its own, saving space and softens the environmental impact with a smaller package during transportation. In addition to this, X80 is delivered as a finished product and can be used immediately without assembly. This displays Takeshi Nii's consideration for the user, which is reflected in his idea of "a chair should be useful like a tool, well priced, and without sacrificing comfort." With ensured quality of Japanese manufacturing, the seat can also be removed and replaced if it becomes damaged over time, so that it can be used for many years to come.
